

CFS Brands Acquires Dr. John's Labs, Provider of the Sani Station

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLAHOMA, December 20, 2018 – CFS Brands announced today it has completed the acquisition of Dr. John's Labs, LLC, a Wyoming based, innovative food safety company. Founded in 2014 by George Barlow, Dr. John's Labs created the Sani Station, the only patented system for quick cleaning and sanitizing foodservice utensils right at the point of use. Sani Station will become part of the San Jamar product portfolio.

Trent Freiberg, President, and CEO of CFS Brands commented: "We are very excited to complete our second acquisition under the newly created CFS Brands. The Sani Station aligns with our vision to provide innovative, professional-grade solutions to our customers. It's a perfect complement to San Jamar's brand identity: smart. safe. sanitary. The Sani Station further strengthens San Jamar's position as a leader in Food Safety. We look forward to working with George Barlow and his team to accelerate the growth of Sani Station in our core markets."

George Barlow affirmed: "From prep to plate, Sani Station is game-changing, food safety innovation and a new baseline for foodservice best practices. CFS Brands is the perfect company as a global industry leader to invest in innovations to give customers proactive tools against cross-contamination risks at the point of service. We are delighted to become part of CFS Brands."

For the immediate future, both customers and suppliers will continue to interact with Dr. John's Labs and San Jamar as they have in the past.
